WILLOW GROVE

CREATORE COMES TO PARK

Open on Sunday and Stay Till September Tenth.

Creatore and his band will open their season in Willow Grove Park on Sunday, August 20th. Some few years ago, it will be remembered, this band was classed as one of the foremost organizations of the country.

Although Creatore is an extremely eccentric and emotional leader he is a wonderful musician. The unusual expression and precision which characterize his band fully bear out this fact. On his recent tour through Europe he was enthusiastically received in most of the large musical centers. His stay at Willow Grove Park ends September 10th which is the close of the park season.

When here several years ago he attracted large audiences and he is not doubt to be greeted by a large crowd this Sunday. If weather conditions are favorable.

Lep's musicians close their season this Saturday evening. Following the Russian Symphony Orchestra, Lep's orchestra hardly presents up to expectations. That it contains many good musicians is true, but their lack of practice together, or the leader's lack of control, prevented the execution of programs with that fine feeling which was expected.

J. A. Beck has purchased a new delivery wagon which he will use on his paper route.

The Pennada Club of Roxboro will play the Willow Grove Park team this Saturday.

The Doylestown plike above here was badly washed by the heavy rain on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen attended the Allen-Valley reunion at Woodhill, Bucks county, last week.

Misses Edith and Deborah Lott visited their sister, Miss Lott, of Vineland, N. J., this week.

Charles Palmer, who was seriously hurt last week, is slowly improving. A false report out that he was dead.

Springfield water was installed in the houses facing the Willow Grove and Germantown turnpike, below the toll gate, this week.

J. Dye Meyer has the contract to furnish the lumber for a chicken house to be erected on the premises of Benjamin Hough, at Warrington.

The stone work on the handsome bungalow of Joseph Lott, at Warrington, is nearly completed. W. H. Lott, who is doing the work. The stone is from the Breckinridge quarry.

Harry Kates and family returned on Tuesday from a motor trip to Lancaster, Gettysburg, Harrisburg, Reading and other places.

A very large excursion from points on the Round Brook railroad came to the Park on Wednesday. There were about 3000 people in three special trains.

The Winslowing team won a very interesting game of base ball from the Willow Grove Field club on Saturday last. It required ten innings, before victory perched on the banner of the victors.

Mrs. Uriah Courter, accompanied by her brother, Daniel Courter, of Crestmont, left on Wednesday morning for Los Angeles, where they will join Mrs. Courter's husband, who has been in the West since last spring.

Rumford & Murphy, real estate agents, report having sold the past week, at 6000, a beautiful house, tract, 67 building lots to Edward H. H. of Philadelphia. This block of lots has the old tract of Prospect Hill, which the new owner will put in good condition and make it his home. Also sold on Moreland road three lots to Edward Bates, of Prospect Hill, three lots to Mr. Dean, of Philadelphia, and two lots to Mr. Thompson, of same place.

JENKINTOWN

SUDDEN DEATH REV. A. CULVER.

The Rev. Andrew Culver, pastor emeritus of the Grace Presbyterian church, 23d and Federal streets, Philadelphia, died suddenly Thursday afternoon at the home of his son, Theodore B. Culver, at Jenkintown. The aged pastor was taken ill only two days ago, and even then his condition was not considered alarming until shortly before his death. About 12:30 o'clock he began to feel rapidly, and in a few minutes he died. General breakdown due to his advanced age, ninety-two years, was the cause of his collapse. He was born at Carlisle, Pa., in 1819. All his life in the ministry was spent in Pennsylvania.

Dr. Culver was twice married, and his present wife survives him. He also leaves four children—Theodore B. Culver, a vice president of the Jenkintown Trust Company, at whose home he died; Mason Culver, Theodore B. Culver and Mrs. William J. Culver.

JEALOUS HUSBAND TRIED TO BURN FAMILY

Ben Donnell Set Fire to House in Which His Wife and Children Were Sleeping—Timely Discovery of Blaze Saved Dwelling and Inmates—Donnell Locked Up.

"I poured oil over the furnishings in the house in which my wife and three children were sleeping. Then I set fire to the oil and ran. I believed my wife was too friendly with another man and I decided that she and the kids should burn," declared Ben Donnell, a negro, of Crestmont, to Police Sergeant Lever, at the Abington station on Wednesday afternoon, just before he was arraigned on a charge of arson. He was held for court without bail at a hearing before Magistrate Williams.

The police declare they can find no ground for Donnell's jealousy of his wife, which resulted early Wednesday morning in the attempt to burn his home and family. Donnell occupied half of a double frame house at Crestmont, near the Reading Railway station, the family consisting of the husband, wife, three children, ranging from 6 to 12 years, and two boarders. In the other half of the house was another family of six persons—13 persons in all whose lives were endangered.

The fire was blazing fiercely when the wife was awakened by the heat and smoke at 1 o'clock. She screamed, grabbed two of the children and ran from the house. One of the boarders brought out the third child, which had already been overcome with smoke. The family next door was aroused and had the fire under control in the time the police arrived. Fire fighters with sand and buckets of water had the fire under control in the room in which it was started. The Abington police officers at once instituted a search for Donnell. He could not be found, but shortly before 3 o'clock he walked into the police station and surrendered himself. He is about 38 years old.

It is said that Donnell wanted to sell some of the household goods, which were the property of his wife and the husband and wife had quarrels. The husband, however, in Moreland town, could not get along peacefully, his wife leaving him. Afterwards they were brought together and had been housekeeping at Crestmont. Donnell has been in poor health for some time, his wife being the support of the family.

RUN DOWN BY MOTOR PATROL
James Baker, Bustleton, Painfully
Hurt by Automobile in City Hall Courtyard.
While entering the west entrance of the City Hall, a teaming James Baker, sixty-nine years old, Ashton road and Grant avenue, Bustleton, was run down and badly injured by the motor patrol of the 30th and But-tontown streets station.
Baker is now in the Hahnemann Hospital with a fractured left hip, and contusions and abrasions of the body.
The automobile patrol had just taken a prisoner to the City Hall.
The machine was driven by James Linden, a patrolman. As the aged man walked across the machine Linden tried his best to reverse the engine on the machine. His efforts were in vain, however, and Baker was knocked down.
The front wheel of the machine ran over Baker's left hip. The second wheel did not pass over the man, Linden having stopped the machine. Baker was picked up by the crew of the patrol and taken to the City Hall hospital. A crowd saw the accident.

OPEN ROAD CROSSWAYS ABOLISHED BY NEW LAW.
Under a law signed by Governor
Tener, the road supervisors of this State will be compelled to change all surface drains and gutters crossing the roads in their respective districts. The new law requires culverts to be substituted for all such drains or gutters. The culverts may be of wood, stone or concrete. It is the duty of supervisors to see that the change is made without delay. An open gutter or "crossway" over a highway is not only a menace to the traveler, but to be of any service in carrying water it must be constantly repaired, as every big storm is liable to damage it.

FAITHFUL DOG BROUGHT AID.
A State policeman riding near Churchville, was attracted to a ditch at the side of the road early Friday morning by the barking of a dog.
There he found Peter Mitlow, thirty-three years old, who had been struck by an automobile six hours before.
The policeman left the faithful dog on guard, and rode to a farm house one mile distant, where he secured a wagon on which to place the unconscious form. Dr. George Parker, of Southampton, cared for the man until the first city-bound train arrived.
The injured man was taken to the Germanstown Hospital, where he is in a serious condition.
Upon regaining consciousness, Mit-low said that he was riding to work on his bicycle, and at his side, when the automobile struck him, throwing him into the ditch.

THREW $20 FROM STOCKING Maid Said She Had Found It, But Justice Differed.
Missing a $20 bill from a purse,
Miss Mabel Jacoby, of Conshohocken, called in Policeman Charles Slavin, who, after a thorough search, turned his attention to two servants. One, Nellie Stittler, of Philadelphia, was seen to throw a bill into a bed. It proved to be a $20 bill which she had secreted in her stocking.
She told her maid she had found the money, but Justice Lieke told her to tell the story to the Court and sent her to jail to await trial.
John S. Fisher sold at public sale at Doylestown, twenty-four cows, at an average price of $55.00.
The Wrightstown First Day school left Wrightstown on a trip to the Zoological Garden, Philadelphia. The agent sold 184 tickets and two cars were required to carry the school.

Dropsy—
Given up by Doctor
"I had dropsy, and was told by my family physician that there was no chance for me. My limbs and body were swollen one-third larger than natural, water collected around my heart and I had to be propped up in bed to keep from smothering. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy until I was entirely cured. This was in 1902, and I am now able to do any kind of work on my farm. My cure was certainly marvelous."
L. TURLEY CURD,
Wilmore, Ky.
Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has been wonderfully successful in relieving heart trouble. Its tonic effect upon the heart nerves and muscles is a great factor in assisting nature to overcome heart weakness.
Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy is sold by druggists. If the bottle does not benefit, your druggist will return your money.

TREVOISE

THE STORM—A WORD PICTURE.

The storm of Tuesday afternoon and evening will be long remembered. The parched earth crying mightily for drink these many days was, soon after, midway, given several shower baths. But as the afternoon waned the whole earth in this section yielded a magnetic attraction which drew the rain in most unusual volume, as well as intensifying the atmospheric electricity. In fact from the clouds to the land there seemed at times a constant discharge, accompanied by terrific lightning. In the electric tower, where so many thousands of volts of artificial lightning are stored, the apparatus upon the fourth floor, amply protected by safeguarding arresters, was alive with dancing balls of exploding force, affecting in a spasmodic manner the delicately adjusted needle of the hygrometer and anemometer.

By six o'clock the meadows and gardens in many places between Bethlehem and the Neesham river, were covered with penurious yet ample sheets of many waters. Creeks no longer dry, and the Neesham river, by the weight of swiftly gliding floods, and at seven o'clock were full to overflowing. The larger streams were rising rapidly, and notably the Neesham, upon whose ruffled bosom and turbulent surface the flood came recently, among the campers of its eastern shore. At eight o'clock the water had risen four feet higher than the usual depth. The many boats tucked violently at the bow, and the water had become well looked after by caretakers.

Forks of lightning picked splendidly the fields of corn, struck trees and chimneys, swept water madly into cellars and "raised Cain" generally, upon the house of Mr. Jackson near Feasterville was demolished by the electric fluid; and the lands of Trevoise were flooded. Water to the depth of four feet was dashed into the cellar of the farm house occupied by Mr. Schuyler at Trevoise, and a big apple tree bountifully laden with fruit, upon the lawn, was struck by lightning and felled as neatly as by the woodman's axe. The stables and barn were flooded, and the yards further south, were flooded, necessitating the taking out of the stock. In fact there are numerous items of damage told of in this township. So great was the force of the water that the soil in many places was washed away as thoroughly as dirt in a mining gulch, where hydraulic mining has been in vogue.

The tremendous energy against the carboniferous banks. Many of these excavations were by storm, and in some cases, at least four feet in depth. However, it was a cleansing flood, and where the water was not too deep, it was a pleasure resort within territories unprovided with generous quantities of roofing material. The time has passed, and the inconvenience, the flood has left us sweet and clean, for thank, Storm King, thou hast out.

HATBORO HOME HAPPENINGS

Thomas Buckman has had his porch repaired.

Albert Clayton spent several days at Atlantic City.

Several from the borough were fishing along the Neamham on Tuesday.

Mrs. Eugene Solvay and son, Price, spent the past week at Ocean City, N. J.

John Lindsay and family and Miss Katie Brooks spent last week at Atlantic City.

Many of Hatboro Friends attended Quarterly Meeting at Gwynedd Thursday last week.

Mrs. W. E. Leedom chaperoned a party of eight young girls to Willow Grove on Tuesday last.

Warren Moore and family have gone to Chelsea, where they will spend the balance of the summer.

Harry Chinick, of Trenton, N. J., was visiting relatives in the borough on Saturday and Sunday last.

Mud from the neighboring fields covered the trolley car tracks on Horsham pike, but did not delay the cars.

Raymond Crockett is confined at the Samaritan Hospital, Philadelphia, where he underwent an operation.

Mrs. L. R. Hughes, of New York City, is spending part of the summer with her sister, Mrs. Emma Coar.

The rain on Tuesday washed the roads some and raised the streams over the banks, but no damage is reported.

Misses Maggie Stout, Mary and Laura Weld spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Downs, at Horsham.

Mrs. Eva Hallman and son, Reed T., of Brooklyn, N. Y., have been weekend guests of Postmaster Watson and wife this week.

E. J. Amber's painters are finishing the exterior of the M. E. church. The church property has been greatly improved during the past year.

Eugene Blair is attending the Grand Lodge sessions of the Knights of Pythias at Erie this week, representing Fortuna Lodge, of this borough.

Mrs. Harry Robinson, Mrs. Harry Emery, Miss Anna Robinson and Miss Mildred Yates, of Philadelphia, were recently the guests of Mrs. Emma Coar.

Rev. J. P. Shook and family are enjoying a two-weeks' vacation. The Methodist congregation will join with Baptist congregation during his absence.

Charles Deekleman and family moved over near the borough on Thursday of last week. They will spend the balance of August at the shore, then go to their future home, Hartford, Conn.

A party of ladies, including Mrs. J. B. Carrell, Miss Elinor Morgan, Miss Clara McNair and Miss Amy Yerkes, started on Monday for Lake George, Saratoga and points in New York State. They will have a fine trip through a picturesque country.

Prof. Borden is considering plans for strengthening the dam breast and increasing the size of the mill pond on his property on Pennypack creek.

Since taking over this property Prof. Borden has made a number of changes. His Pennypack camp, which has been occupied all summer by Philadelphia boys, has attracted much attention.

The wettest rain Hatboro has had for some time was that on Tuesday afternoon, when a thunderstorm prevailed. The rain will do much to stimulate vegetation, which was suffering from the drought.

Architect Wesley Mullen has prepared plans for an attractive residence to be erected by Mrs. A. S. Logan on her lot on Byberry avenue, adjoining the residence of John D. Sells. Mrs. Logan has owned the lot for many months, having purchased it from Mrs. Conard, who owns the adjoining property. Mrs. Logan's house will contain all modern conveniences.

While the thunder storm was in progress on Tuesday afternoon, lightning burned out the motor of a big trolley freight car as it was second on the hill at the turn into the field from Horsham pike. The car stuck there.

The passenger car following tried to push the freight car over the hill.

FROM THE MAINE WOODS.

Big Lyford Pond Camps, P. O. Roach River, Maine, August 7, 1911.

One of the thoughtful things I did before leaving Philadelphia was to order the Spirit to this beautiful spot. I thought it would keep me in track with local conditions, but it did more, it seemed to bring friends to our midst—for many of the items carried me nearer to civilization. There are many who read and hear of the real and a change, people of moderate means, who cannot afford to go to Lake George, Lake Umbagog, or to the north or elsewhere, who would like to know of such a place as these camps afford, and where they really are more benefit than at the above places. This is an ideal spot situated on a lake, with mountains surrounding it, good fishing, good canoeing and yet in the wilds of the extreme character, where the purest air and water abound. It is rough, so rough that portions of it you have to walk because you cannot sit to the backwoods. You can have a log camp if you wish, but we prefer a tent and are enjoying it immensely. There are about 30 in camp, men, women and children, all living an absolutely simple life, going and doing as they please. People needing a quiet restful outing of two weeks can journey from Hatboro, taking in the White Mountains, Lakes George, Champlain and Moosehead, for about $150, or less by coming directly here without stopovers. I don't know when I will get this article in a regular mail. We put it in a box and it goes when somebody goes or comes to Roach River 3 miles. Your paper was received promptly, because our trunk miscarried and we chartered a launch yesterday to bring it to our landing 3 miles distant.

Yours,
H. B. WORRELL.

HORSES KILLED IN ROAD DASH

One Stage Nag and One Trotter a Forefeit to Speed.

Two horses were killed in a collision on Newportville road late last Sunday night, when a driving carriage, racing with another, ran into a heavy stage. The occupants escaped with severe bruises. Harry Swank, of Hulmeville, was driving a runaway, accompanied by Miss Viola Dyer, of Bristol. Near Newportville, they met another rig and began racing. It is said.

Mrs. Frank Pullen was driving a heavy stage in the opposite direction, carrying passengers from Croysden station to Newportville. Swank's carriage struck the stage, one of the stage horses and killing it instantly. The horse Swank was driving was forced under the wheels of the stage and died 20 minutes later of a broken back.

Miss Dyer and Mrs. Pullen were severely bruised.

In case of rain, supper will be served in the hall and other events will be postponed until August 20th. Supper will be served from 5 to 7 p. m. Every resident should make it a point to attend this carnival as the entire proceeds will go toward paying debt, incurred in purchasing necessary equipment for fire company. All the properties of the fire company will be exhibited on the grounds and visitors can see the present equipment, which may some day be the means of saving their life and property. The Fire and Drum Corps are practicing hard in order to become proficient in several new pieces as they will provide the music for the carnival.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

UNLEARNED LESSONS OF THE FARMER

Soil Study—Application of Business Principles to Growing and Selling Crops—Organization.

There are three lessons that appear to me as not being thoroughly learned by many farmers of the present day.

1. A more earnest and deeper study of the soil.

2. A greater application of business principles in the preparation and sale of the products of the farm, as well as purchases.

3. A more perfect organization of the farmers as business men.

In speaking of the first, I believe in order to make a success and to get the very best results it is very important the farmer should know as nearly as possible the make-up of the soil; of what it is composed and what it needs, in order to grow the crop which he proposes to raise at a profit to himself with the least expense. Although this fact is being realized among a certain class of farmers, a large number are still following in the footsteps of their fathers and this is not to be wondered at because they have not awakened to the fact, that the longer and greater the hand is filled the more crops removed and the soil becomes more exhausted, and the elements contained therein having been taken out and not replenished it is certain to follow, that smaller crops will be produced. In the years that are past and with the crude facilities and implements with which our forefathers labored, these elements so necessary for production were not so rapidly taken from the soil, that Mother Nature could keep up the supply. But in the present day with all the new machinery and varied processes the land is worked harder and forced to such an extent that it is necessary to use artificial means to keep it up. Just the same as it is this strenuous life we lead, the physician has to be called upon to administer those stimulants that are necessary and essential to keep up human strength and tide us over until natural effects may be produced.

The second lesson to be learned with profit is the application of business principles in conducting the farming interest. As I have said the production of the crops is important, but when they are produced it is extremely important we should dispose of them to the best advantage. Too many farmers do not use sufficient care in preparing what they have to sell in such a way that will not only make it more marketable, but inviting to the consumer. It makes no difference whether it is sold wholesale or retail if it is put in such a way and with that honest purpose that means a square deal, the large potatoes will not all be on the top of the basket nor the tinny hay appear as if it had heads on both ends. First class products properly prepared will always find a market and demand the highest price. In every avenue of trade and in all the business walks of life that person who places his goods on the market in such a way that they will advertise themselves need have no fear of disposing of all he can produce at a living profit. This same principle of a square deal should be applied as stringently in the farmers purchases as in what he sells. It has often been said the farmer was easy and could be hoodwinked into buying what he did not want or pay too much for what he got. The country is full of that class of sharks, who travel around trying to humbug the people by professing to give them something for nothing. There are also many magazines and periodicals that are sifting chronicles and sifting swindles, that look very inviting and seem quite profitable on the face of them but all invariably have a sting to them when ferreted out. Farmers should exercise the greatest care when purchasing their seeds and fertilizers. Do not be led astray by the price. A first class article is rarely too dear. But a poor article is never cheap. In mentioning the third lesson, a more perfect organization, it would seem on first thought that this was neither possible or practicable. But depends almost entirely on the object of such organization. If it is simply for the purpose of cornering the products of the farm and thereby endeavoring to place a fictitious value upon them it would not only be folly, but illegal to attempt it. There is no class of business men or manufacturers that could succeed in such a purpose. But it is entirely legitimate and within the province of all classes to organize for the purpose of advancing their true interest, and inasmuch as other classes organize for such a purpose it behooves farmers to do the same. All business is affected more or less by legislative action both State and National. Whenever any new law is proposed we find business organizations discussing the Why's and Wherefore's as to the effect it will have on their respective callings and the outcome is that it is either modified to suit them or eliminated. Farmers therefore, should give a more earnest consideration to political matters, and make a deeper study of the enactments that may affect their interests, and therefore enter into the field of organization for the purpose of gaining all the privileges to which as citizens and supporters of this great country they are entitled. As an illustration among the many I will cite this crusade of the dairy interest. While I do not see at the moment the great value of milk as a food product and the vital importance of its being perfectly clean and pure in every respect, I do oppose the law relating to the temperature and the manner of enforcing it. I know from actual experience the importance of milk being thoroughly cooled and the animal best completely eliminated. But to make an arbitrary law that the temperature shall be not over 60 degrees when delivered in Philadelphia without any stipulation or provision as to how it is handled in transit is unreasonable and unfair to the producer. We have seen that hundreds of quarts of good, sweet milk dumped in the sewers, that would be a godsend to a poor family of the city, and who has to stand the loss? Why the farmer, he who has had to take the knocks and blunts of grafting politicians scheming lawmakers for years. I merely state this as one instance of the many wrongs inflicted upon the farmer simply because he does not assert his rights. Is it not therefore important that this lesson of organization should be well learned that all these wrongs shall be righted and he shall have a fair chance with the rest of the business world, and be in a consistent position to subscribe to the following creed.

He shall believe in being a son of the soil, and in earning bread by the sweat of his brow, always performing uncomplainingly his share of this world's labor. He shall believe in living a true, spotless life, as inspired by Mother Nature; in winning good neighbors by being one himself, and in being charitable toward the unfortunate with the same kindly spirit that the head of providence has dealt with him. To believe that honest, unselfish motives will win honest reward, and that the practice of the Golden Rule will give to all a square deal and the comforts of life and peace.

FARM INSTRUCTORS.

The list of lecturers at the movable Institute schools and farmers' institutes during the coming season includes all of the men and women who have made these meetings so popular the last few years, with the exception of one or two who have been prevented from entering the work again by reason of other business.

To fill their places Deputy Secretary of Agriculture A. L. Martin, who is director of institutes, has added a number of new speakers, and it is the opinion about the capital that the staff of lecturers forecasts as good talks as have ever been given at these meetings. The lecturers for Bucks and Montgomery counties, February 5 to 7, will be D. H. Watts, of Kernboro; Charles T. Cornman, of Arlisle, and Prof. Wells W. Cooke, of Washington, D. C. In addition to these lecturers, the Montgomery county meetings will be attended by T. J. Phillips, of Atglen.

Stickney Gasoline Engines
ARE THE BEST

Get Your Money's Worth

The service an engine will give you depends not only on its design and quality of its material and workmanship but upon the size of its bearings, the length of its piston, the thickness of its thinnest casting, the size of its balance wheels and the strength of its various parts. Upon the size and strength of these parts depend the service you will get from the engine and it also determines the total weight of the engine. In determining the value of two engines compare their weight the same as you do when you sell your hogs, pork is worth so much per pound.

Come in and inspect our sample Stickney Engine and show us one place where any weight can be cut out without injuring the service the engine will give and then we will show you it has no surplus weight, no big useless unnecessary base—and then figure the price per pound. We will give your money's worth.
